NEWS BY CHARLES

It's me, Charles, shown here in my lion costume, bringing you the latest High-Stone news. Faster than you can say "snow," just like that, the holidays will be here! It's time for wintery adventures with Frosty and Santa . . . time for toys and treats. Read on, and find out more about the fun here at High-Stone.

BIG THANKS TO ALL OF OUR LOYAL FRIENDS

As the 2006 year comes to an end, we would like to express our sincere thanks to all clients and their four-footed friends. Your pet is as important to us as he is to your family, and we thank you for your confidence and your business. Your comments and referrals are important to us and always appreciated.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING – AND IT'S A PARTY-PARTY WEEKEND

On Saturday, December 2, Santa will arrive at High-Stone. The fun begins at 10:00 a.m. and continues until 3:00 p.m. We'll have a professional photographer for you and your best friend – we pay for the sitting fee, you simply purchase the photos you want. The Maltese Madame and Animals Immortal will return with great gift ideas for the holidays; and artist Maren Phillips will be at High-Stone to create a work of art of your pet.

PARTY TIME IS ALWAYS FUN-TIME AT HIGH-STONE

High-Stone parties always offer a fun time for you and your pet. In October, dogs at our annual Halloween party showed-off their best tricks and costumes while they and their owners enjoyed treats at High-Stone. Here's Scout, a beautiful Border Terrier and everyone's daycare favorite, who is cute as a bug in her Halloween costume. Scout knows the benefits of a party . . . T-R-E-A-T-S !

MANNERS IN MINUTES

During the week of December 4, the nationally acclaimed training seminar, Manners in Minutes, will be presented at High-Stone by Pat Muller, inventor of the patented Q-Collar. Group and private lessons are available all week long, including the weekend of December 9th and 10th. Regardless of any training your dog has ever received, Manners in Minutes is the best gift you can give to your dog and your family. Results are guaranteed. Call now for more details and reservations.

CHRISTMAS & NEW YEAR'S HOURS:

As you know, we're always full during the holidays, and it's not too soon to make your boarding reservation. Call now to guarantee that your pet will be safe and comfortable during the busy holiday season. Don't forget: We'll be closed for Christmas from noon on Saturday, December 23, through Monday, December 25; and we will be closed for New Year's on December 31 and January 1.

CHAT WITH CHARLES

It's a hectic time of year. Shopping, romping, wrapping, napping. Luckily, my pal Jill the Lakeland is never too busy to talk with me. Let's give her a holiday quiz.

CHARLES: Ho-ho-ho, Jill. Do you know what time it is?

JILL: It's Christmastime, Charles. My favorite time of the year.

CHARLES: Dogs love Christmas, don't we, Jill? Treats, toys, stuffed stockings . . . all for dogs like us who have been nice, not naughty.

JILL: I'm nice, Charles, thanks to Manners in Minutes. My manners always put me at the top of Santa's good-dog-list.

CHARLES: All dogs need manners, and Pat Muller makes learning fun. Did you absolutely love the Manners class, Jill?

JILL: I loved it so much that I attended three times! You can't have enough manners, Charles. And you never want to be naughty this close to Christmas. It always pays to have manners . . . and dogs should be especially nice during this time of year. The "Santa-factor," you know?

CHARLES: So Jill, since you've been so particularly nice, what will Santa bring you for Christmas? What's on your little wish list this year?

JILL: Well, like many gals, I'm thinking of new fashions – maybe a bejeweled collar and leash.

CHARLES: Maybe something from the Maltese Madame?

JILL: Exactly, Charles. You read my mind. When the Maltese Madame is at High-Stone for the December 4th Christmas party, I think that I'll make my selection and get ready to send my wish-list to the north pole.

CHARLES: Do you know where the north pole is located?

JILL: Nope, but Santa will receive my list. He always does. And in addition to a new collar, I think I'd like art.

CHARLES: A work of art in watercolor? Perhaps a study of Jill in oil? A pastel sketch?

JILL: I'll leave that to Santa, Charles . . . to Santa, and the talented artist, Maren Phillips. Maybe also a little something from the nice folks at Animals Immortal.

CHARLES: Is it too vain to have artwork of yourself, Jill?

JILL: No, Charles. And the artwork isn't really for me. It's for my family. I do the hard part by posing for the art . . . they get the benefit of fine terrier art . . . and everyone is happy. It's a win-win, and another fun part of the High-Stone Christmas party.

CHARLES: Oh how I love a party. It's been a big party year, hasn't it, Jill? At High-Stone, we love to throw a good party to show our friends how much we appreciate them. It's what a good host does, right?

JILL: True . . . no one can entertain a gal like you can, Charles. And other than my family, no one takes care of me like the staff at High-Stone. I suppose that's why a trip to High-Stone is always fun for everyone.

CHARLES: We like to say thanks to good friends like you, Jill.

Thanks, and HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

OUR SPECIAL DOG

This issue's featured dog is Earl Bennett, a very attractive Mastiff, shown here in his Santa hat. Earl is being especially good and waiting for Santa. No wee dog he, Earl weighs-in at 215 pounds. Yes, two hundred and fifteen pounds! Yet Earl is gentle as a lamb. If you're at High-Stone on Tuesdays or Thursdays, you'll see Earl in doggy daycare, living large and enjoying the company of his daycare pals. Congratulations, Earl . . . you'll be featured on our web site because you're this issue's special dog.
