NEWS BY CHARLES

Greetings from the Pet Lodge. It's me, Charles, with the update on the post-holiday activities at High-Stone Pet Lodge. Even though the holidays are over, there is a lot going on. So sit back on the big bed with your best friend, enjoy a biscuit, and read about what's new.

VALENTINE DAY TREATS AND GIFTS GALORE

Who's your best valentine? Who loves you no matter what? Who is always happy to see you, no matter what your mood may be? It's your dog! Yep, the very dog who will not appreciate long-stemmed roses . . . the beloved canine who can't enjoy chocolate on the exciting day of the Valentine. So what does a good dog owner do to show love? Stop by our gift shop and let us help. From soft, plush beds to collars, clothing, and accessories . . . we have the treats to spoil your favorite Valentine! What a great way to show your love and enjoy the day together. Bring in your best friend and let him help pick a bone or treat. Mmm.

DAYCARE FUN AND SAVINGS

Doggie daycare at High-Stone is all about doggy bodies in motion. With the personal attention of our caring staff, nothing stands between your best friend and a happy day of exercise. Regardless of the weather, your dog will experience an active life while he enjoys the company of his best pals in daycare. Our daycare passes never expire, and packages can offer savings of over forty percent off the daily rate. Whether you use one of our monthly or weekly passes, or merely stop-by on occasion, doggy daycare fulfills your dog's need for exercise, and your need for convenience.

SPRINGTIME HOLIDAYS

Christmas and New Year's may be gone, but it's still a busy time of year. Winter holidays, ski vacations -- yep, spring break and the springtime holidays will be here before you know it. What does that mean? It means that the Pet Lodge will be full of happy dogs at their home-away-from-home. It's wonderful time of year, and happy dogs enjoy treats, and lots of personal pampering in our luxury suites and deluxe boarding areas. You know that we book-up quickly, so be sure to hold your dog's spot. Call now and take advantage of daycare and grooming specials while he's boarding. He'll return home clean, refreshed, and oh-so happy. Remember, we'll be closed for Easter on Sunday, March 23.

CHAT WITH CHARLES

Time for some peppy talk with Jill the Pill, my Lakeland pal. Let's ask Jill about her plans for the new year.

CHARLES: Jill, you're looking sharp there with your pink leash. I hear you've had a birthday. You're practically grown now. Is that why you look so fine?

JILL: I did have a birthday . . . but I look especially fine due to my recent grooming. And Charles, speaking of especially fine, that's an especially fine bunny you've got in this issue's photo.

CHARLES: Don't change the subject, Jill. We're not talking about my bunny toy. Tell me why you look so cute.

JILL: Alright, Charles. I'll tell the tale of my cute tail if, if, if you'll share that bunny on a play date. I've been groomed. Groomed and cleaned from nose to tip of tail.

CHARLES: I thought I saw you on the grooming table here at High-Stone. Frankly, Jill, I don't see you there often enough. What's up with that?!

JILL: It's my family, Charles. They're busy. Always some excuse for not enough grooming and bath time.

CHARLES: So what happened? How did you get that fabulous clip and that oh-so-fresh scent?

JILL: They broke down, Charles, as people so often do. They realized that they are too busy to keep me looking this cute. When people get that busy, dog grooming often moves to the back burner, so to speak. And I was in dire need of grooming. My coat grew out during the autumn. I was downright shaggy.

CHARLES: Well, I wasn't going to say anything, Jill. I'm glad your family saw the light. In fact, a day at the spa is quick, easy, and painless. No one is too busy for a quick drop-off and same day pick-up.

JILL: Don't I know it! And aren't I darling!?! I'm frisky and happy. I was absolutely adorable for the holidays.

CHARLES: That's how it happens, Jill. Long or short hair, straight or curly, we all need some grooming from time to time. And the truth is, a trip to the spa saves time . . . not to mention headaches for the family.

JILL: Oh, Charles. You should have seen the smile on the faces of my people. Cute cut, cute bandana. I was the doll of the house. And a good cut lasts for weeks.

CHARLES: Speaking of weeks, Jill, it's almost Valentine's Day. Are we on for our usual play-date?

JILL: Absolutely, Charles. And I'll be visiting the spa, pre-date. My people are sold on this grooming gig. It's easy for them and fun for us all. We're true believers now, so I'll be especially cute by the big V-Day.

CHARLES: Oh-yeah . . . Jill the Pill in her pink-heart bandana . . . I can't wait.

JILL: I'm excited, too. Don't forget your bunny, Charles.

CHARLES: [winks]

OUR SPECIAL DOG

This issue's featured dog is Ziggy Munoz. Like all lucky dogs, when Ziggy's family is away, she bides her time at High-Stone Pet Lodge. Ziggy loves doggy daycare and, of course, she always has time for a spa day before going home to her family. She's sweet, clean, and pretty, shown here dressed in her polka dot bandana. Congratulations Ziggy . . . you'll be featured on our web site because you're this issue's special dog.

MAKE YOUR DOG SPECIAL, TOO

We know you're proud of your pup, and we're proud to know him. Bring in a photo of Fido and we'll proudly post it on our Wall of Fame. It's a great opportunity to show-off your best friend and to get a glimpse of his daycare friends at High-Stone.
