NEWS BY CHARLES

I'm back. It's me, Charles, the golden child. The Lakeland Terrier of High-Stone Pet Lodge, which I call my home-away-from-home. It's time for my summertime news. Read about the summer events at High-Stone, and stop-in with your best friend to meet me and my friends. You, too, can call High-Stone your home-away-from-home. Come experience a luxury life with me.

SUMMER TIME, AND THE LIVING IS EASY

I don't know about fish jumpin' and high cotton, but I do know that the living is indeed easy at High-Stone . . . especially for all of us pampered pooches. Join us daily for refreshing snacks.

You'll get a yummy biscuit, and your people can enjoy a perky summertime lemonade. It's just the pick-me-up you both need on a hot, Texas afternoon. When you're heading for home after an exciting daycare spree with your friends, you and your people can enjoy a cool sip and a biscuit. What a way to end the day and begin your summer evening.

BABY, IT'S HOT OUTSIDE

Too hot for your best friend to stay outside all day? It's Texas, so you know it is. And hot, cold, rain, or shine, he'd always rather be at daycare with friends. Yes, we still have daycare passes available . . . and that translates to tremendous savings for your summer wallet. More savings, more toys . . . that's what I always say. And while he's in daycare, be sure to tune-in to our live webcam. It's available directly from our website at www.High-StonePetLodge.com. Purchase your daycare passes today. And remember, when your best friend can't be at High-Stone, provide him with plenty of shade and cool, fresh water. Cool dog, happy dog.

BOARD ON THE FOURTH OF JULY

Before you know it, the Fourth of July holiday will be here. Now depending on your breeding and temperament, that could be good news or bad news. Burgers and snacks? Yep. But with the dropped snack morsels often come big bangs! Now my pal, Jill? She loves fireworks. But not every dog does. And if you're counted among the group that can do without the noise, come join me for a weekend far from the maddening crowd. No loud noises . . . just peace and tranquility. Unwind watching your favorite dog movie on TV in our luxury suites, or join the in-crowd in our deluxe kennel facilities. Make your reservations now because space fills-up very quickly. Whether during the Fourth of July holiday or during your family's vacation, every dog deserves a summer holiday at the lodge. Book today to ensure your space. And remember, we'll be closed on Tuesday, July 4.

CHAT WITH CHARLES

Well, Jill and I are at it again: talkin' up a storm. We Lakeland Terriers know quite a bit about everything. So let's ask Jill some questions and find out what she knows about summertime.

CHARLES: Jill, what do you know about passes?

JILL: You mean the kind of passes you've been known to make at me? Remember the time you got that withering glance for being a bit too fresh? Surely you remember that pass, Charles.

CHARLES: No, not that kind of pass, Jill. I'm talking about a grooming pass. The kind you get for baths and grooming, which you could certain use this afternoon.

JILL: I must admit, I'm not overly familiar with a grooming-pass.

CHARLES: Well get this, Jill. With High-Stone's new grooming pass, you pay for five baths and your sixth bath is free! And you love a bath, don't you, Jill? You like that fresh-fur scent. Admit it, you know you do . . . and so do your people.

JILL: I do, Charles. I play outside a great deal in the summer, especially mornings and evenings. So I need my share of baths. And all girls like to freshen-up after a hunt.

CHARLES: It's birds and squirrels again, isn't it Jill? You're still trying to catch those animals, aren't you?

JILL: Yes, Charles, and in doing so I tend to pick-up a lot of debris.

CHARLES: What, Jill? Did I understand that correctly? Debris!?

JILL: Yeah, debris. And it happens to all of us. Little leaves will cling to fur. Fresh-mowed grass gets caught in my beard. And then there was the time I rolled on the little grass snake.

CHARLES: Ah, yes. Debris. I understand. Do we need any more details about the little grass snake?

JILL: No. Enough said. Don't ask . . . it would be way too much information.

CHARLES: Gotcha, Jill. Well, in any event, that makes you a perfect candidate for the grooming pass.

JILL: Mmmmm. A soothing bath every week. And a FREE bath . . . even better! I'd like be lavender-y.

CHARLES: That's why High-Stone developed the pass. It's perfect for summer, just like you, Jill.

JILL: Yep, summer and I were made for each other. And as for the grooming pass, count me in! Mornings squirrel chasing, days at High-Stone getting clean and fresh, and nights spent on the big bed. Sounds like a great start to perfect summer.

CHARLES: It will be, Jill. It will be.

WHO'S SPECIAL ?!

This issue's featured dog is Connor. Everyone loves Connor. One look and you can see . . . what's not to love? Velvety nose, soft ears . . . and he looks like he's wearing feet-pajamas. That's just part of what makes Connor so special. You'll see Connor at daycare most days. Sometimes Connor brings his friend, Molly. Stop by with your best friend to meet them both. Congratulations, Connor, you're this issue's very special dog. Look for Connor on our website!
